

National Youth Week Ambassadors 2017

Mark Munnich, 24 from the Darwin, Palmerston and Darwin Rural Region

Mark is a young Aboriginal man born and raised in Darwin. Mark is currently studying a Bachelor of Laws and Accounting with Charles Darwin University and works as a Community Legal Educator with the North Australian Aboriginal Justice Agency.

Mark had lots of experience with youth week events and other youth leadership initiatives, including Youth Parliament, YamSafe Indigenous Headspace and Bilata Indigenous Legal Pathways Program.

Mark's favourite things about the Northern Territory are the diversity, the laidback lifestyle and general friendliness of other people.

Mark is looking forward to meeting lots of young people at the many different events and activities that are going to be on offer during National Youth Week 2017!