SELECTION CRITERIA

There are always more applications than funds available and the competition is strong. The selection process determines the degree to which the project meets the selection criteria. The selection process determines the degree to which the project meets the selection criteria. The department cannot guarantee to fund the full amount required, or to fund an organisation or young person that has been previously successfully in obtaining a grant.

The department will assess all submissions against the eligibility and selection criteria, and will also consider local needs and existing service delivery programs. Funding will also be distributed to ensure an equitable regional spread of projects across the Northern Territory. Assessment will be guided by the information contained in your application, particularly on how you demonstrate key youth engagement outcomes.

Preference will be given to applications that clearly demonstrate the following:

- demonstrate opportunities for young people to develop and enhance skills and knowledge that enable them to engage effectively in their communities;
- commitment and ability to involve young people in the planning, development, implementation and evaluation of the proposed projects; and
